February 23 and 25, 2010 WEEK B

From Farmer Scott

I am connected with you, therefore, my actions have a direct relationship with you and vice versa. I live and breath, you live and breath, our lives and our breath are one. This African derived philosophy called Ubuntu is simple, yet crucial and I resonate with it. Our lives really are so intertwined in this amazing community and I feel so blessed to be part of it. Thank you

In your box today:

From the fields of the farm, our "beyond organic" salad mix, Leeks, Collards, Celery from Santa Barbara, Shitake Mushrooms from Moss Landing, Potatoes from Madera, Myer Lemons from Las Palmitas.

EARTH CAMP CRV SCHOLARSHIP PROGRAM !

As you may know, Laguna Farm hosts and helps support our Earth Camp Collective, a non-profit organization that teaches children sustainable living skills here at the farm. Due to the economic crisis, we received many requests last year for scholarship assistance to help those that may not otherwise be able to afford the program. We managed to help several children with partial scholarships through fund raising and generous donations. However, the numbers requested exceeded the amount available to help get many children into the program. Therefore, Laguna Farm has graciously offered to host what we believe to be an amazing possibility in helping to get funds for the children, and are asking for your help in contributions in this manner:

We have just set up a CRV (California Redemption Value) station by the parking area at the CSA barn. If you can bring in any bottles (white, green, brown - but NOT wine bottles!) aluminum cans, and numbers 1 and 2 plastics containers, then we will be taking them in for cash that will turn into money for the sake of the children!

It is a labor of love for us all, and will change the life of a youngster forever, as well as helping assure strong future stewardship of the Earth in their newly gained knowledge and skills. Thank you for your support, and should you have any questions, comments, or concerns, please contact us at the number listed below, and blessings to you all!

COSMIC EGG: WORK/TRADE POSITIONS

Cosmic Eggs is seeking two regular chicken-loving work/trade helpers to help us feed and water the chickens daily, and to collect and wash eggs. This will involve working two mornings a week from 9 AM to 11 AM. Workers will receive a Laguna Farm CSA bin AND one dozen Cosmic eggs. See last week's newsletter for a full description of the position. Please email cosmiceggandchicken@yahoo.com and type WORK/TRADE in the subject line.

EVERY-OTHER-WEEK subscribers: NEXT WEEK, we'll be adding a $2.00 per week surcharge to your subscription for administrative costs. Next week, your invoice will reflect a total cost of $19.00 per week. Remember that we may cancel your subscription if you miss picking up your box twice in a 30 day period. Please check the top right hand area of your invoice for your pick-up dates! You are always welcome to switch to an every-week schedule.
